Unsure of how much you will be consuming? Let Colt help you make life more flexible!

Bundled Minutes

Colt's new bundled minutes proposition allows you to plan the amount of minutes you need and pay a flat rate to manage conferencing costs effectively. With cheaper per €c rates than a pay-as-you-use service this is designed for frequent medium-to-heavy users of conferencing services. The nature of the bundle allows for upgrades at any time for the following month!

Pay Per Use

Are you an infrequent user? Need the flexibility of having an account ready to use anytime? Colt's Pay Per Use package with flexible pricing allows customer accounts to be charged on a usage basis only, with no ongoing fees.

Monitor usage

Unsure how much conferencing your organisation is using? Colt's innovation threshold management system allows you to set up email notifications and you can limit the amount of minutes you wish to be notified about, helping you to monitor and track employee usage. If required, scale up to a bundle package or a more cost-effective bundle based on usage.

Taking Control

Self-service management portal

Always having to contact your conferencing vendor for more accounts? Do you find yourself waiting for days to set up new accounts or make changes to an old one? Need to expand your on-premise equipment because of capacity issues? Colt's Audio Conferencing platform has been built from the bottom up to allow far more customer control and management than anyone else in the market.

We understand that business works in real-time and so enabling this level of control empowers our customers to manage themselves how and when they want to, without needing to come back to us every time.

Adding new users, removing them, or even altering settings for your organisation, can now be done in real-time, as and when you need.

Want to know who the heavy or non-active users are? View rich reports of your organisation's usage. Track your usage by setting up threshold notifications to let you know how much is being spent. All of this can now be done via Colt's self-service portal. Secure and efficient, Colt Online allows you to access all of your Colt collaboration services from one interface. Empowering you to take control of your business needs.

Seamless integration between applications you need!

Colt VoIP Access

Reduce costs by having all intra-company conference access calls zero billed if they go through a Colt SIP trunk. Only pay for Conferencing Bridge minutes used. This will be enabled for existing Colt VoIP Access customers or new customers with the conferencing service.

MS Outlook

Have a single click icon built into Outlook that pre-populates dial-in numbers for your meetings as well as enabling enhanced security features.

Extension (Dial-Plan) Matching

Having to remember yet another bridge number can be frustrating and impractical in a large organisation. With Colt's Extension Matching service, we will enable you to re-use your existing dial-plan extensions to offer employees bridge numbers that are identical to these, hence making deployment far easier and encouraging usage over travel.

WebEx

WebEx offers the end user a complete collaboration service. Use your Colt Audio Conferencing with WebEx web and high-definition video capabilities.
